
NICK FINK Biography

Nick Fink can do it all. He can act, make the surliest of people burst out in laughter or tears, and sing in a smooth baritone. Improv, singing, standup, acting, playing piano, the list of Fink skills goes on and on.

And if that's not enough, he can play a mean game of hacky sack. But don't worry; he's so charming, he'll always let you win.

Originally from Fargo, North Dakota, Fink landed in Los Angeles only a few years ago by way of Arizona, when he hammed it up on the television waves of American Idol. Since Idol, he has quickly made his way around Hollywood. In that short time he has played against Samuel Jackson in the popular "Wake the F%*& Up" video, is a regular cast member on the soon to launch Disney On Line series 'Explored' and is a favorite at "Funny Or Die." Where his new "Coachella Bootcamp" series has been a viral sensation and featured on The Huffington Post, Yahoo Music and numerous other publications and sites.

Along with all these credits, Nick has booked several national commercials, including ones for Microsoft and Shoe Dazzle and also had time to fit in starring as the lead in two indie sag feature films, Ostrichland and The Turner Risk. As you can see, Nick Fink is a busy guy, but he wouldn't have it any other way.
